Written by leading scholars in the field, Martin Myant's and Jan Drahokoupil's Transition Economies provides students with an up-to-date and highly comprehensive analysis of the economic transformation in former communist countries of Eastern and Central Europe and countries of the former Soviet Union from the end of central planning to the capitalist varieties of the present. It provides a comparative analysis of economic transformation and political-economic diversity that has emerged from it. It covers differences between countries in terms of economic performance and integration into the world economy. It seeks to explain and deepen understanding of these differences, chart the emerging forms of capitalism there, and provide country responses to the world financial crisis of 2008.
