INFORMATION

Introduction and module overview

The aim of the course is to prepare first level nurses and midwives as Community Nurse V150 Prescribers who can prescribe from the Nurse Prescriber's Formulary (NPF). The course has been approved by the Nursing and Midwifery Council (NMC) and the prescribing qualification is recordable by the NMC. The module represent 20 SCQF credits at SCQF Level 9 (degree level) and is underpinned by the RPS \(2021\) Competency Framework for All Prescribers and NMC \(2023\) Standards for Prescribing Programmes.

An experienced, multi-professional academic team delivers the module using a hybrid model of teaching and learning using the UWS virtual learning environment. In addition, work-based learning within your area of practice will be undertaken which is facilitated and supervised by a Designated Prescribing Practitioner (DPP) and Nominated Practice Supervisor*.

Who can apply for this module?

Applications are welcome from first level nurses and midwives in the NHS or independent sector who meet the entry criteria determined by the standards of Nursing and Midwifery Council (NMC 2018). Applicants must have a minimum of 1-year post registration experience in the area in which they intend to prescribe.

All applicants must have the support of their employing organisation to undertake the module; employers must agree to support a total of 48 protected learning hours, in addition to 65 hours of learning in practice. At the point of application, a Designated Prescribing Practitioner (DPP)* and Nominated Practice Supervisor must be identified who can support the 65 hours of supervised learning in practice.

All applicants must be able to demonstrate safe and effective practice in clinical/health assessment, diagnostics/care management and planning and evaluation of care within the intended area of prescribing practice. Applicants must also demonstrate the ability to study at the SCQF level applied for, which will normally be through completion of a previous level 9 module. Applications may be considered for those without the required academic qualification but with prior learning or experience that can mapped to RPS \(2021\) Competency Framework for All Prescribers.

For further guidance on this, or for information on the additional requirements for Independent/Non-NHS applicants, please contact UWS using the details below.

Module Delivery and Content

The module will be delivered over one academic term using a hybrid model for teaching and learning. Theory will be delivered using a blend of synchronous online workshops, tutorial support, asynchronous online learning activities, and academic support. Practice based learning will be within the applicant's own clinical area and contextualised to their intended area of prescribing practice.
