

The School of Education at the University of the West of Scotland provides Languages for All for students from all schools of UWS, UWS staff and members of the public.

What languages can I study?

Languages for All offers you the opportunity to start learning FRENCH, GERMAN or SPANISH, or to improve your previous knowledge in any of these languages. Classes in ARABIC or GAELIC are only offered at beginner's level. For MANDARIN information see below. For information about the language classes, including timetable information, please visit <https://www.uws.ac.uk/study/cpd-short-courses-modules/short-courses/>

How are the classes taught?

The focus is on practical language skills that you can use in social, academic and business contexts, and all classes are taught by native speakers. Topics covered are wide ranging and take account of current debates in the countries whose languages you are studying. For total language immersion, classes are conducted in the target language as much as possible, and as they are relatively small you will find that your lecturers will soon know you individually. All modules are credit bearing, the assessment is continuous and there is no exam at the end.

Do I need to have studied a language before?

No, there are modules at a variety of levels from complete beginner to modules that are suitable for students who have a good command of the language. The majority of modules are twenty credits with some ten credit modules available as introductions to the language. See below for an example using Spanish.

- Introduction to Spanish 1 is for complete beginners and is a 10 credit module, running from September to December (term one).
- Introduction to Spanish 2 is the follow on module at 10 credits, running from January to April (term two).
- Spanish 1.1 is 20 credits and suitable for complete beginners with no prior knowledge required. The contents of Introduction 1 and Introduction 2 are both covered in this module.
- Spanish 1.2 is 20 credits and aimed at students who have completed a 1.1 module or have an equivalent knowledge (e.g. a good Higher pass)

The modules above are all studied at SCQF level 7. Other levels of modules are available, please see current timetable.

Who are the classes suitable for?

The classes are suitable for anyone who wishes to learn a language for work or leisure, or to develop their existing knowledge. They are open to students, staff and members of the public.

When do classes take place?

Modules are available during terms one (Sep-Dec) and two (Jan-Apr). Attendance will either be two hours a week during terms one and two (20 credit modules) or two hours a week for one term only (10 credit modules). Daytime classes are available at a range of levels. All modules are subject to minimum numbers for viability. For full details and timetables, see

<https://www.uws.ac.uk/study/cpd-short-courses-modules/short-courses/>

How do I apply?

Applications are now open via <https://apply.uws.ac.uk> - you will need to create an account (if you do not already have one), select 'Education' as the school and then the campus you intend to study at and press search. Select the module you wish to study, select the mode of study (part-time), start date (listed as 3 Sep but classes start later, see below) and complete the details. A reference is not required. Once your application has been completed, it will be reviewed by our Admissions team and you will receive an offer letter.

How do I pay?

Staff who have their line manager's approval for attendance and who have a current budget code, should send a copy of the staff development form to accountsreceivable@uws.ac.uk and languagesforall@uws.ac.uk and then apply via <https://apply.uws.ac.uk>

Staff who are self-funding, prior to online enrolment you are required to pay your fees – please do this via the online store <https://shop.uws.ac.uk/product-catalogue/schools/school-of-education>

The School of Education is offering a discount to UWS staff members reducing the fee payable to:

- 20 credit module £200
- 10 credit module £100

Currently, UWS do not accept Individual Training Accounts.

What is online enrolment?

This process is done by individual students and converts them from an applicant to an enrolled student – guidance is available here <https://www.uws.ac.uk/current-students/supporting-your-studies/induction-enrolment/> - the process usually opens late August for the new academic year.

When do classes start?

Modules in Ayr start w/c 10th September and modules in Paisley and at the new Lanarkshire campus will start w/c 17th September.

Module Co-ordinators

If you have a language specific query please contact the relevant Module Co-ordinator:

French	Laurence Giraud-Johnstone	laurence.giraud-johnstone@uws.ac.uk
Arabic/Gaelic /Mandarin/Spanish	Dr Fernando Leon-Solis	fernando.leon-solis@uws.ac.uk
German	Paul Pilger	paul.pilger@uws.ac.uk

Mandarin

With the support of the Confucius Institute, UWS School of Education is pleased to offer staff and UWS students the opportunity to take part in a 10 week Mandarin course. This is not a module and carries no credits. Attendance is every Wednesday in F255, Henry Buildings West, Paisley, from 1400-1600 from Wednesday 19th September for 10 weeks. The course is suitable for complete beginners. There is no charge although attendees will be expected to buy a textbook with an approximate cost of £15. At the end of the course all students will be able to take an official Mandarin test conducted at the Confucius Institute in Glasgow. Please register via <https://shop.uws.ac.uk/product-catalogue/schools/school-of-education>

For general enquiries, please visit <https://www.uws.ac.uk/study/cpd-short-courses-modules/short-courses/>

UWS UNIVERSITY OF THE WEST of SCOTLAND

If your query cannot be answered by visiting our webpage, please email languagesforall@uws.ac.uk