DONATIONS PROCEDURE

Introduction

The University welcomes donations from individuals, charitable bodies and other corporate or non-governmental bodies. This make sure we are acting in line with our University values; we must ensure that we carefully consider the source of any donation and whether it is appropriate for us to accept the donation

The relationship between the University and the donor must be appropriate and to the benefit of the University. Any perceptions that a donor could secure an inappropriate direct or indirect benefit from making the donation must be prevented along with the protection of academic integrity against influence, or perceived influence, from the interests of private donors.

A donation will be refused where there is or there may be a perception that:

1. It results from illegal activities.
2. The activities of the donor are in conflict with or may be harmful to the objectives of the University or in breach of the University's ethical code.
3. The adverse publicity from the donation would likely result in a reduction of donations to the University from other sources.
4. The offer is dependent upon the satisfaction of conditions set by the donor which are contrary to our values or objectives, or unreasonable in relation to the nature of the donation.
5. Where conditions tie the donation to a specific activity and the activity itself is not within the objectives or strategy of the University
6. It may compromise the charitable status of the University.

There may be occasions where a donation is offered by a current student or a member of their immediate family. In this instance, the donation will only be accepted where the University considers that acceptance of the donation will not result in any perceived favour to the student and will not impact our academic integrity.

Appropriate due diligence and robust scrutiny of any donation that is offered will be undertaken in line with our mission and values. This will include robust scrutiny of the source and identification of any actual or perceived conflicts of interest.

This document sets out the procedure that should be followed in relation to the acceptance or refusal of any donations offered to the University. There is a separate procedure relating to gifts and hospitality to individual members of staff.

Procedure

Any offer of donation should be notified using our Donations Form which can be found on the Legal Services page of the staff website. The completed form should be sent to the Legal Services Team at legal@uws.ac.uk. This applies to both monetary donations and gifts in kind. Donations of services (e.g. a contribution of time, skill or effort) are not in the scope of this Procedure and shall be reviewed separately by the Legal Services Department.

Only applications to OSCR or the Charity Commission for England and Wales registered charitable trusts and foundations can be made in advance of approval however confirmation of acceptance of a donation must not be given until formal approval is received.

Legal Services will then carry out research on the donor and source of funds through web searches and accessing relevant databases. Any relevant information will then be included in the Donations Form before it is provided to the Donations Group or other approver. A copy of our Donations Checklist will also be provided at this time, setting out relevant considerations when deciding whether to accept a donation. Legal Services are available to provide additional advice on the due diligence process or any risks associated with a proposed donation.

Donations Group

Where a donation offered is over £25,000 or the monetary value of the donation would exceed this amount a Donations Group will be established to consider the proposed donation.

The Donations Group comprises: -

- the Vice-Principal (Strategy) and University Secretary (Chair),
- the Vice-Principal (Finance and Infrastructure) (or nominee),
- the Head of Legal Services, and
- the Dean of Faculty for the area to which the proposed donation is being offered

A minimum of three members of the Donations Group (one being the Chair or their nominee as Chair) must be present for a decision to be made. Where appropriate, the Chair of the Donations Group may determine that approval via email by the members of the Donations Group is sufficient.

Approval Limits

Formal approval for accepting or declining the donation must be given in line with the following table, depending on the value of the proposed donation and the level of risk identified: -

A Donation may present a significant risk to the University if the donor's reputation or activities could conflict with our values, there is the potential for academic integrity to be compromised; or there are conditions attached to a donation (including the requirement to endorse/promote the donor or to use the donation for a purpose which doesn't align with our strategy) which require further consideration.*

Acceptance of Donations

The Alumni and Fundraising Team will retain a register of any donations accepted or declined. The Vice-Principal (Strategy) and University Secretary will provide an annual report to Court of all donations offered, regardless of value.

Where appropriate, in the case on ongoing donations, the approval may be reviewed at appropriate intervals on change of circumstances.

On acceptance of a donation which comes with conditions as to its use, a formal agreement will be put in place with the donor by Legal Services.

The University will only accept donations where the identity of the donor is known. A donation will not be generally accepted from an individual who requests anonymity. The identity of the donor must at least be known, and acceptable to the Vice-Principal (Strategy) and University Secretary.
